HUSBAND WANTED.

Wanted, a hand to hold mine own. As down life's vale I glide ; Wanted, an arm to lean upon, Forever by my side.

Wanted, a firm and steady foot, With step secure and free, To keep its straight and onward pace Over life's path with me.

Wanted, a form erect and high, A head above my own So much, that I might walk beneath Its shadows o'er me thrown.

Wanted, an eye, within whose depth Mine own might look, and see, Uprising from a guiltless heart, The tenderest love for me.

Wanted, a lip whose kindest smile Would speak for me alone; A voice, whose richest melody

Would breathe affection's tone.

Wanted, a true religious soul, To pious purpose given, With whom my own might pass along The road that leads to heaven.

NATIONAL SPORTS AND AMUSEMENTS .- We have been favored with a copy of a sermon bearing the above title preached on Sunday, January 2nd, by the Rev. Charles Marryat, M. A., incumbent of St. Paul's Church, Adelaide. There was a time when such a subject would have been deemed improper to the pulpit, and there is undoubtedly a manner of treating it which would at all times be objectionable; but at present it is thought desirable that the commonest practices of society should be discussed by the ministers of religion in a religious point of view, and Mr. Marryat's mode of doing this appears to us to be as free as possible from defect. His idea is that popular amusements may help us to determine national character, and may also materially aid in the formation of such character; and he contends that if they be such as are calculated "to promote good public spirit and refine mens feelings," the Christian patriot may lawfully join in them. By those who think with Mr Marryat that the present life is not to be a purgatory but merely a probation, and that the proper influence of Christianity is not to reduce the world to a vast monastic establishment, the discourse will be read, not only the past week we have been celebrating what may the morality of the people or of the individual. ments in the united and domestic way in which we usualy do enjoy them and are content with sights as do not offend the purest-minded woman. It is not then to disparage but to improve such days-not to sadden, but still more to gladden such joyous faces that I would once more return to St. Paul's comparison of the infinite superiority of heavenly things over what are earthly."-pp. 8-6. The latter portion of the discourse expresses higher interests; and contends that any eagerness shown in the pursuit of the subordinate ought to the world as not abusing it because the fashion thereof passeth away; and to walk as the children

Our food is often badly chosen, still more frequently spoiled in cooking, and almost always eaten in utter disregard of dietic rules. Pies are another American abomination, and have no small share of our illhealth to answer for. The mince-pie as it is generally made, is the abomination of abominations. Some discribe it as "very white and indigestible at the top, very moist and indigestible at or fraction of an ounce, in weight. the bottom, and untold horror in the middle." Even our bread is unwholesome. It is made of the finest of fine flower, and either fermented till its natural sweetness and a large portion of its nutritive elements are destroyed, or raised with those poisonous chemicals, soda and cream of tartar. In either case it is unfit to be eaten. The rich cakes which our good housekeepers deem so indispensable, are still worse, and so on. Now, add to our badly chosen dishes and our objectionable Districts in which they reside: cookery, the rapid eating and imperfect mastication, and the continually interrupted digestion | S. N. Emrason, Waialua, which our intense and feverish life necessitates, R. REMARKABLE RACE BY RAIL-STAKES $275,000. -From L. D. Rucker, superintendent of the Cleveland and Toledo Railroad, the Cleveland Leader obtains the following particulars of an exciting race, in which the steeds were iron horses and the stakes greater than have ever been known on any track. Mr. Rucker had the facts from John D. Campbell, Esq., superintendent of the M. S. and N. I. R. R: One day last week, as the eastward bound express train reached Laporte, Ind., a passenger stepped off while the engine was being replenished with wood and water, and walked back and forth on the platform, and continued to walk until the whistle sounded. The other passengers got on board and the train passed off, but the gentleman still walked on. A few minutes after the train had gone a station man saw the pedestrian, and going up to him, asked in a surprised tone :

"What the - are you doing here!" The man started, opened his eyes, and looked around bewildered. The fact was, he had been fatigued and dropped asleep while walking, rous-ing himself, he asked: "Why! Where am I?" "Where are you? At Laporte."

"Where's the train I came on !" " That left ten minutes ago." "Ten minutes ago and left me! I must go on the train. It is a question of life and death with me. Can you get me to it! Have you got an engine here! Where is the Superintendent?" The section master had an office near by, and the two went to find that official and to procure an engine. The traveler stated his case-he must go on-could not delay-and offered the officer $250, if he would put him on board the train. This strange demand and strange offer caused the station master to hasten to do what he could. The fire was not out in the engine that had drawn the train to that point-the bargain was settled-a draft given on New York for the $250, and in ten minutes the traveler started with an engine to overtake the flying express. After rushing on for thirty or forty miles some connection gave way about the engine. The engine was stopped -the engineer found the difficulty, and in a very few minutes had a wooden pin whittled out and fitted to supply the deficiency. With this on they flew. The train had of course many miles the start of them, and despite the wooden pin the engineer crowded on steam and tore through the country at a fearful rate. Thirty miles of the distance passed was run in 27 minutes, but the engagement was that they should overtake the train, and do it they must, and do it they did, but not until more than one hundred miles had been run, and they were approaching Toledo. Having at length overtaken and stopped the train and hurried on board, the traveller went eagerly to a berth in the sleeping car, and took therefrom a carpet bag containing $275,000. His treasure was safe-none had molested it, and dismissing the faithful courier, he went on his way rejoicing at the success of his perilous and exciting adven-

The ordinary price for grapes in Albury is 1s. per lb., and they have never been sold below 10d. wholesale. The Adelaide Register stated some time ago, that an acre of vineyard would always yield about £250 clear of all expenses, supposing the wine to the preacher's regret that men immersed in the be sold at 6s. per gallon.
